The page contains musical notation for a song, presumably for the bassline of "Train Kept a Rollin'" by Aerosmith. The notation includes chord symbols, fret numbers, and rhythm indications. The page also shows a section labeled "Bridge," "Guitar Solo," "1st Interlude," and "3rd Verse." The notation is used to play the song on a bass guitar and includes time signatures and tempo indications. The music is written in standard notation with a few symbols indicating rests and other rhythmic elements. The notation is designed to be read by musicians to play the song accurately.
